Dear Gentleman:

On behalf of the Office of Presidential Personnel, I would like to commend and thank Wesley, Brown & Bartle for its recruiting efforts and strong diverse candidate base forwarded for consideration in the Clinton Administration.

The quality and breadth of the diversity candidates recommended for top level positions has been outstanding, enhancing this office's and the administrations deep commitment to diverse representation.

Further, I commend Wesley, Brown & Bartle's commitment to the values and principals of providing opportunities inclusive of all Americans, recognizing that our nation's strength is the diversity of our people. For a quarter of a century your organization has focused on under-represented and non-traditional populations, placing people of color, women and former military professionals in leadership positions in the private sector. Your diligence and passion for quality search work have made a difference in the ethnic and cultural diversity in America's corporate structure.

Once again, we commend your exceptional record of diversity achievement and wish you continued success in assisting the public and private sectors in achieving their diversity goals.

Sincerely,

Charles N. Duncan
Special Assistant to the President and
Associate Director of Presidential Personnel
